JCNA NEWS

As we in Vancouver slosh through rain, the Mexico Jaguar Club prepares to welcome club members for the JCNA Annual General Meeting. Mexico City is the location for this collection of meetings and tours, visits to historical monuments, pyramids, museums, and somewhere in it all, Board meetings and an AGM. I'll remain here in the rain and read about it. Additionally there is a very large Concours planned to top off the almost one week of social activities and tours.

The North West Region of JCNA clubs in Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, and Portland have their dates scheduled for concours and slalom in 2026. Again we will enjoy the camaraderie of members from other clubs and travel to their events. Cross border drives and lunches have been scheduled for the past few years and are always enjoyable.

Carole Borgens,
North West Region Director

On behalf of JCNA I congratulate all members who participated in Concours and Slalom in 2025. It's not the winning that's important, it's the enjoyment of sharing our hobby with other Jaguar enthusiasts, making new friends, and the continual learning about our cars that is a bonus. To maintain Concours and Slalom programs the need for volunteer club members to help run the events is of utmost importance. Consider talking to your executive about what's involved and if a volunteer position is a good fit for you. It's the best way to meet members and form new relationships in the club.

I'm always available to discuss questions you may have about JCNA.

Here's to Safe Summer Motoring!

2026 Cox Memorial Whimper Wonderland Run

Peter & Anne Tilbury, with photos by Ria Zapf

The group in a merry mood at the start.

63 people, in 41 cars, came out on January 1st to celebrate the New Year. In addition to the CCMGC (11 cars) and the CXKJR (8 cars), an invitation went out to other British Car Clubs in the Lower Mainland. There were 2 Minis from the Vancouver Mini Club, a London Taxi and others from the Old English Car Club, a Morris Minor and others from the Langley Area Mostly British Motoring Club, 2 Morgans from the Pacific Morgan Owners Club and 3 MG T-series cars from the Pre 56 Club.

The route took cars from South Surrey through Langley to the Jimmy Mac's Pub in Port Kells. There was some fog on the route but the roads were dry, and air temperature around 6 degrees Celsius.

During lunch at the host pub, teams of two or more people took on the challenge of a quiz. They were asked to identify fifteen British car logos and hood ornaments, dating from 1900 to the present day. First place, with eleven correct, was Stephen Blake while joint second place with ten correct went to the teams of Bob & Jane Norquay, and Brian Yates with Mary Lou & Alan Myles. (See page 11 for the pub quiz.) Entrants were encouraged to wear crazy headgear and the prize winner was Richard Labossiere with a turkey hat. Andrew Cox, the son of Tony and Judy Cox who were the instigators of this annual event over ten years ago, was on hand to present the prizes.

The MCC Edinburgh Trial: September 26 - 27 2025

John Fry, CCMGC Member & Classical Gas UK Correspondent

One of the oldest motorsport events in the world – Trialing – is still going strong, and a few months ago I was asked to passenger on the Edinburgh event. In effect this means navigating, bouncing, being tyre deflator/inflator and gate opener/closer, in a 1996 MGF purchased on eBay and modified for trials. This includes raised suspension, bigger wheels/tyres (with knobbles not allowed) and a skid plate front to rear. The standard 1800 engine has been rebuilt to give low down torque, and the car lightened including the factory soft top ironmongery, wind up windows substituted for electric, with carpets and radio etc. removed.

A couple of spare wheels protrude from the boot.

The driver/owner was Adrian Tucker- Peake, who held a senior engineering post at the MG Rover home in Longbridge. This included amongst many assignments, curing the soon to be launched MG ZT 260 Mustang engined V8 of severe axle tramp. Adrian also led a team that produced a Hybrid MG TF, which increased BHP from 160 to 200.

A trial is not a race. Back in the early 20th Century when roads were still rough cart tracks, car and motorcycle manufacturers wanted to prove their vehicles were tough and could cope with the terrain. The original Edinburgh Trial did end up in that city, having commenced in London, and a few years later having gone to Edinburgh with participants driving back to London.

The 2025 trial was 200 miles in length and started and finished in the Peak District of Derbyshire. There were 15 sections scattered around the countryside, and whilst there was not much mud due to the dry weather, there were plenty of rocks, boulders and tree roots to halt one’s progress!

Participants are not allowed to walk the course, so in the dark forward movement could be “interesting”. Many of the tracks are still considered “byways open to all traffic”, having been there hundreds of years. Others are on private property or farms. Much work goes into organising these events. Permission is obtained from Councils and land owners, and in sensitive areas noise must be kept down, especially at 3 am! Vehicles have to be road legal and both the driver and passenger need competition licences.

car with tyre gauge and then re-inflating (with compressor) before hitting the tarmac highway.

When daylight appeared, the roof of the MGF was lowered. This adds to the visibility and rain of course! The only reason we didn’t drive the whole way thus was that in the dark on the actual sections, one could be assaulted by a passing bush!

Navigating between sections via Tulip Diagrams in the middle of nowhere, was helped by a trip meter, but we still had to be on the ball to locate tracks with no sign posts - nothing but dry stone walls and endless fields. On the sections themselves if losing traction, the idea is to “bounce”. At other times you had to make sure the driver takes the correct left or right turn, as to go the wrong way is a “fail”.

This area of England is not over populated and the weather can be foul. But on this trial weather was good and the scenery stunning. A couple of gas stations opened up for us, as did a pub for breakfast (coffee only!). Afternoon tea and cakes were at a village hall. Then back to the start at the Heritage Railway - which seemed days ago - to sign off. Many of us stopped the night in Hartington, where tales of woe or otherwise were exchanged over a well-deserved pint and a meal.

The MGF ran faultlessly despite the bashing and ill treatment it received. Such use and abuse the designers and constructors at Longbridge never envisaged.

A thoroughly enjoyable weekend of grassroutes motorsport.

To get a feel for what trialing is about, check out the following link:
<https://youtu.be/zaVwsAPtfv4?si=u8EqAwYQdlyKTON>

The idea is to get to the top of the section for a Clear, in a forward motion. If one stops that’s ok, but then rolling back on trying to restart is a “fail”. Much depends on the driver’s control and when to apply more/less power. Depending on class of vehicle and which section, there are compulsory stops (generally placed in mud/rocks), when having stopped, you are required to get going again. We failed to do so on one section annoyingly. So instead of being awarded a gold for Clears everywhere we got a silver award. Perhaps our tyre pressures were not quite right. There are minimum pressures on sections so plenty of getting out of the

Kevin Parenteau: Vice-President CXKJR

As the owner of two Jaguars – my 2015 Jaguar F-Type R Coupe and my wife’s 2022 F-Pace – I decided to join the CXKJR Club in March 2025. It all started after chatting with a couple of neighbours about the car clubs they belong to (Porsche and Rolls-Royce). Their experiences sounded pretty interesting, so I went down the rabbit hole looking up Jaguar clubs online... and here I am.

My first car was a 1981 Datsun 200SX, and while I’ve owned a few cars since then, this is actually my first time joining a car club. Before this, the last organization I belonged to was the Entrepreneurs’ Organization (EO), where I spent 12 years. I’ve done a lot of different things over the years, but I’m always drawn to learning new skills and taking on fresh projects.

Last summer, for example, I decided to turn my backyard into a mini food-growing experiment. I’m definitely not an experienced gardener, but I liked the challenge, the hands-on learning—and, let’s be honest, the chance to push back a bit against big grocery stores.

I’m the founder and CEO of Asana at Home Online Yoga, an online provider of yoga classes and teacher training. I started the company as a side project during COVID. A few years later, I sold my design-build construction company and went all-in on the yoga business.

On the home front, my family includes my wife Lene, my daughter Mikaela, my sons Ethan and Carter, my grandson Giuseppe, and our two dogs, Taffy and Rico

Editor’s Note: Since both our Vice-Presidents this year, Kevin and John, are relatively new members of CXKJR and CCMGC, we asked them to provide some background to introduce themselves to club members. Photos by Ria Zapf

John Evans: Vice-President CCMGC

My first car was a 1963 VW Bug, while a high school student in Coquitlam. Over the next 10 years Ria and I had a series of VW Bugs and Vans, including an old beater we drove throughout Europe, and later, back at home, a 1975 Westfalia camper.

Our collectible today is a 1962 MGA Mark II roadster, which we purchased in 2020. Prior to this my only other ‘classic’ experience involved a 1971 Volvo 1800 ES Sportwagon. At a young and foolish age, my friend and I purchased one we thought we could easily restore. This turned out to be a very unwise decision as the car’s restoration needs (rust, rust, rust!) were far beyond our capabilities. Fortunately, my friend’s father owned a body shop and he saved our bacon by fixing the car ‘pro bono’. This allowed us to sell the car for what we had paid for it.

At the 2022 ABFM Brian McBride approached me and we discussed the CCMGC and what it had to offer. I also picked up materials from Mike McChesney at the club tent at that time. As a result, we joined the following year – it’s our first experience with a car-related club.

Ria and I are long-time boating enthusiasts. We have cruised our boat throughout Eastern Canada and the United States, the Bahamas, and up and down the west coast as far north as Alaska. My other regular hobby is playing golf (not very well I might add).

I retired from the BC Automobile Association in 2011, where I held the position of SVP and CHRO. I spent my entire career in human resources and labour relations with a variety of private and public sector organizations.

Besides me the Evans family consists of Ria, Ryan (son), Vanessa (daughter), Joanne (daughter-in-law), Felix (grandson) and Cora (granddaughter). No dogs or cats.

Ria and I are very much enjoying our association with the club. It has exceeded our expectations.

Classical Gas, The Legacy Continues

Ria Zapf

Classical Gas Magazine is in its 57th year! How amazing! I wonder if Ian Newby wore bell bottom pants and tie-dyed shirts as he edited the first edition of Classical Gas back in 1970. Oh, and how did the name Classical Gas get chosen?

The first newsletter was printed on a mimeographed sheet distributed at the second meeting of the new club. Ian chose the title, after the famous Mason William's 1968 guitar instrumental named Classical Gas. The birth of Classical Gas is described on our club website in "How it all began" www.jaguarmg.com/history-of-the-club.

Today Classical Gas continues to reach members of our club and the broader classic car community. Each issue includes upcoming events, features about classic MGs and Jaguars, member contributions, and photos depicting drives and our social activities.

Classical Gas writers and photographers have won over 35 Jaguar Clubs of North America (JCNA) Newsletter Awards over the past 20 years! In 2011, Jennifer Orum was honoured and won the JCNA Editor of the Award. Recognition via reprinting of articles appearing in Classical Gas includes MG Driver and Classic MG magazines, the online Moss Motoring magazine, JCNA's Jaguar Journal, the Vancouver Sun, and other club publications such as the MG Owners Club of San Francisco's Octagon newsletter. An article in the November December 2025 Classical Gas has been published on the website of the International MG YT Club. All this speaks of the professional quality of Jennifer's editing and the submissions by our members.

Jennifer took on the role of Senior Editor in January 2008. At that time she agreed to be acting editor for two issues, while the Executive found a person to be the ongoing editor. No one stepped forward and Jennifer is still fulfilling this role. I have been fortunate to assist with editing this past year and I appreciate the detail and time required for her Senior Editor role.

Club members provide valuable support to publish each edition of Classical Gas. This includes the Classical Gas Advisory Committee consisting of Chair Jennifer Orum, Charles Boname, Steve Collins, Les Garbutt, Mike Harford, and Ria Zapf. Ad Manager Steve Collins sources new advertising, while Jennifer oversees advertising renewals, invoicing and retention. Rhonda Gale is responsible for Classical Gas distribution. Printing is handled by Infigo Imaging, using high-quality glossy paper and reproduced in full colour.

Classical Gas continues to be a major contributor to the success of our club. Over time the magazine has evolved, and it is now available digitally on our club website www.jaguarmg.com. Many members still prefer a printed version. For those who cannot pick up their copy in person at our club meetings, it is mailed.

If you have an idea for an article or photographs to share, remember all submissions are considered. You may have a personal story about how you enjoy driving your classic car, or you may try to capture a photo for a cover shot. Perhaps you would like to join the Classical Gas team. If so, contact Jennifer Orum at jlorum@shaw.ca or (604) 889-7598

After over half a century of publication, the legacy of Classical Gas continues into 2026.

Not Your Typical Road Trip: Part 2

Part 1 of this article in the November December Classical Gas described our summer road trip that was excellent, until it wasn't because of a breakdown. This breakdown occurred on a Monday afternoon not far from the Victoria airport. To our good fortune, it turned out to be within a few kilometres of the right mechanic to fix it.

Most who read this article are very aware of how difficult it is to find knowledgeable mechanics that are skilled at working on old British cars, particularly ones that ceased production long ago. We've been successful in finding someone within a reasonable driving distance of our home in Coquitlam, but we were at a distinct disadvantage

This was a situation when the advantage of club membership and club contacts really came to our rescue. Immediately at the time of the breakdown, which I could tell was potentially serious, I recalled that a fellow club member – Jennifer Orum – had mentioned that for years she had been having her MGB serviced by a very reputable small shop in Sidney. An email to her quickly produced contact details for Mike Owen, owner of Owen Automotive, whose shop is located adjacent to the Victoria airport. Mike answered the phone when I called that afternoon (thank heaven for small businesses, where you can actually connect quickly to the right person), and, despite being very busy, he agreed to have a look at the car. Although we didn't know the extent of the problem or what it would take to fix it, this was a significant relief because the alternatives would be much more complicated and expensive.

The breakdown turned out to be caused by disintegration of the seat for the #3 exhaust valve. This in turn was the result of a crack in the head adjacent to the valve. As they are fairly rare, a search for a suitable replacement 1622 (16) head was unsuccessful. We settled for a modified 1600 (15) head that had improved porting for better performance. Fortunately, no significant damage had been done to the pistons, rings or cylinder bores. After a thorough cleanup, including removal of accumulated carbon, plus skilled lapping of the valves and seats, the 'new' head was installed, ancillary parts were reassembled, and the MGA was ready for a test drive. Mike did a short one to confirm all was well. An extended test awaited my arrival.

Eight weeks to the day after the breakdown I returned to 'the scene of the crime' for a lengthy test run around the Saanich peninsula and Victoria. I enjoyed a sunny and satisfying experience, with an engine that is smoother and quieter, an idle that is much more stable, and, as much as I could tell, no noticeable loss of performance from the non-stock head.

In hindsight I believe there were already indications that something was amiss, such as a measurable compression deficiency in the #3-cylinder, idle fluctuations that I had been chasing for some time, and other, more recent, curiosities.

No time is a great time for a breakdown. That said, I believe we got off lightly this time, as this event could have occurred in a remote location, at less pleasant hours of the day, and with quality help much, much further away. Oh, and the damage could have been much worse. For all these things we are grateful.

Replacement head in place.

VanDusen All British Field Meet May 16

The Greatest Show on British Wheels has earned its reputation as the longest running and most significant display of British vehicles in Western Canada. The 41st Annual Vancouver ABFM will showcase almost 500 British-built classics, exhibitors and vendors surrounded by the beauty of VanDusen Botanical Garden.

The featured marques this year include Rover with a storied history that spans 122 years and 50 models. The display is supported by the Rover Car Club of Canada. The spotlight will also be on the Jaguar XJS, produced from 1975 to 1996, one of Jaguar's longest-running and most successful models. There will be a vibrant display of XJS models showcased in the 75-plus all-model Jaguar zone.

This year's ABFM will have an exclusive EuroBrit display, showing how British cars were influenced and enhanced by European design and engineering. Cars built in Britain but designed in Europe will be featured.

Continuing the educational spirit of the ABFM, the popular Talking Collector Cars evening returns on Friday night at the reception in the VanDusen Floral Hall. The event will be moderated by the seasoned broadcast and automotive journalist Alyn Edwards.

Online registration will continue until March 30. Registrations received after April 30 will be placed on a waitlist, active until May 11. Watch for details online at westerndriver.com.
